Poem for consumption

My poems are lost.
In the life of the internet
They're looking for a way out.
not to only be consumed..

Today everything's consumption.
And man is the consumer.
Why I don't get used to it:.
I'm more conservative.

I don't know just how to discard.
something still suits me fine..
I'm more(inclined)to conserve.

And this business of give and takes,.
something's got to be ....
otherwise it's the life story of jazz..
