Thank you

My first English poem should have been dedicated to my lord and Savior
 instead I wrote it to a careless woman thats not a friend or neighbor
I understand God has to be first place in everything i do in my life
I know he can take care of me n he already has my future wife
But instead I get inpatient N rely on my own wasting time n getting hurt in the process
When I could b useful for his kingdom helping others full of hapyness
I know how to be disobedient n doing my own Thing
I got nothing out of it so far I'm a loser that can't win
I don't mean to preach but tell the truth I must
In the world what u call love is just lust
Thank u lord for giving me an amazing father who like u is always been there for me
Because of his teachings as a young boy I have faith in thee
I don't know how to do anything right n I always been a quitter
But today I praise your name n I'm no longer bitter
I love u father n I'm sorry for everything wrong I have done
I'll keep on fighting the good fight until u come
I forgive all those people that hate me
I hope that when they look at me
Your love they see
